Four tips to maximize the sale of your home!

Price It Right

One of the first things buyers will notice is the price of your house. That's why it's important to price it right. Your goal in pricing your house is to draw attention from competing buyers and let bidding wars push the final sales price up. Pricing your house too high to begin with could put you at a disadvantage by discouraging buyers from making an offer. Your trusted real estate advisor can help you find the price for your home that reflects the current market value. Lean on your agent to help you with this crucial first step.

Keep It Clean

It may sound simple but keeping your house clean is key to making sure it gets the attention it deserves.

When selling your home, it's important to keep everything tidy for buyers. . . Remember to take special care with the bathroom, making sure the tile, counters, shower, and floors shine.

Before each buyer visits, assess your space and determine what needs your attention. Wash the dishes, make the beds, and put away any toys. Doing these simple things can reduce any potential distractions for buyers.

Make It Easy to Visit

Giving buyers the opportunity to see your house on their schedule can be a true game-changer. Buyers are less likely to make an offer if it's difficult to plan a tour or they can't easily fit it into their schedule. Making your house available as often as possible helps create opportunities for more buyers to fall in love with your house. Rest assured your trusted real estate advisor will keep your health and safety top of mind when buyers tour your home. Agents use the latest guidance to stay up to date on any protocols and sanitization recommendations.

Help Buyers Feel at Home

Finally, it's important for buyers to see all the possible ways they can make your house their next home. An easy first step to create this blank canvas is removing personal items – pictures, awards, and sentimental belongings – from your space. If you're unsure what should be packed away and what can stay, consult your trusted real estate advisor. Spending the time on this step can pay off in the long run.

Is Property Management Right For You?

Have you ever wondered what property management really means? Or how it could be beneficial to your circumstances? Maybe you only own one rental or are thinking of moving and wondering if it makes more sense to keep your property as an investment or sell it. Are you too small to take advantage of a management company? Do you need several properties or a multi-unit property as opposed to a single-family home? How about the differences between vacation rentals, weekly rentals, or the traditional monthly leases?

Well, look no further! No matter your situation, Howard Hanna Realty Pioneers— Couderport can give you the answers that will make your decisions easier. Our goal is to assist clients by providing expert advice in all areas of real estate!

So, what is property management?

By definition, property management is the operation, control, maintenance, and oversight of real estate and physical property. This can include residential, commercial, and land real estate.

At Howard Hanna Realty Pioneers, a property management agreement is tailored to the owner's specific needs and requirements. It can be as simple as marketing the property, finding a suitable tenant and handling the lease preparation or it can become more complex with the manager handling more details for the owner. In the end, each owner may want a somewhat different level of service.

Examples of some of the services may include:

- Evaluating the property: helping the owner determine an accurate rental rate, and advising about different policies that may come into play.
- Marketing the property for rent: preparing the home for rent, creating ads, entering on multiple listing service, working with other realtors, showing the home, providing applications, and collecting application fees, along with ensuring legal compliance with the fair housing laws.
- Tenant Screening & Selection: which includes performing background checks on prospective tenants, scoring tenants, and informing the tenants that did not get the rental.
- Overseeing tenant move in: dates, leases, inspections, collection of rents and security deposits.
- Rent Collection: also entails processing for late fees or notices.
- Evictions: Initiating the paperwork, representation and coordinating with law enforcement.
- Inspecting the property periodically and reporting to the owner.
- Providing accounting to the owner, advising, detailing invoices and receipts.
- Overseeing maintenance & repairs: inside and outside areas, coordinating contractors
- Supervising tenant move out: includes inspections, estimated damages, security deposit return, cleaning and repairing the property to put back on the market.

Remember that we would love to answer any of your questions anytime!

5 REASONS FALL IS A GREAT TIME TO SELL YOUR HOME

Got Kids?

It's much easier to keep your house ready to show with the kids in school all day.

Less Competition

There are fewer homes for sale than there were in the spring and summer.

Your House Looks Great

Fall colors make for great curb appeal.

Mortgage Rates Are Still Low

Keeping buyer demand strong throughout most of the country.

Buyers Are Acting Quickly

Those who didn't buy in the summer are eager to be in their new home before the holidays.
